

REPUBLICAN VICTORY AT POLLS WILL KEEP AMERICAN MILLS GOING

HON. RICHARD P. FREEMAN
(Special to The Bulletin)

"If you believe in a democratic tariff for revenue only then vote for the democratic party, but if you believe in putting a duty on foreign articles at the port of entry equal to the cost of manufacture in this country then vote for the republican ticket. A democratic victory means free trade and the closing of American mills, while a republican victory means a tariff that will protect our industries and keep our people employed."

We have heard a lot of talk about the republicans repealing the excess profit tax said E. H. Dunnigan of Washington, D. C., at a republican rally tonight, but the fact is that the tax was imposed because many bonds were circulated about this country that were free from taxation since 15 billions of dollars were invested in those bonds, this money was of no use to the country. The republican party repealed the excess profit tax in order to release some of this money for investment in business where the people would be the gainers through its use. They say that an amendment should be made to the constitution making it impossible to flood the market with these tax free bonds, but such a law will never be ratified by the states that have these bonds out on the market to get money to conduct their business.

The biggest cry we hear this year from the democrats is that the republican tariff will mean increased prices to American consumers. I defy them to prove this. A leading democratic paper says that the tariff means the shoudering of four billions additional costs on the American public, while a prominent democrat says three billions is nearer. All right, let us take it as three billions. In round numbers there are one hundred million people in our country. Three billions increased costs means $30 per capita, and as there are 40,000,000 workers in our country it means they will be asked to pay out $75 more for their living than without the tax. This is $6.25 a month for each one to pay. Isn't it better to pay $6.25 each month to buy undies, shoes, food, clothing, and have a steady income than to pay $6.25 less each month and be working steady than to go back to democratic hard times with a half week or less of work and pay.

They tell us in their campaign talk that clothing will go up in price under the Fordney tariff act, suits $5 higher, coats $7 higher. In May, 1921 the duty on the best grade of wool was 45 cents and not a cent came from the democrats, because there was no election. Clothes were then cheaper than under the democratic free trade time. Now we have the Fordney tariff that reduced the tax on wool 14 cents, down to 31 cents, and the democrats say prices will go up. You know that it takes three pounds of wool to make a suit and that before the tariff and went into force our customs houses held over a million pounds of wools there for the coming drop in tax. This means that the cost of a suit and most of them have been held out for more money for suits he is a rank profiteer and the sooner he is in jail the better for the country. When the farmer got 25 cents for his wool were your prices lower? All over our country ads have been run saying that the tariff means an increase in clothing costs. One little store in Washington war and when the interest on the loan is greater than the principal I say they should pay back what they have borrowed. Congressman Freeman went on to tell of the passing of the women's and children's aid bills, the veterans' bureau, aid to wounded and disabled veterans, and said that this country owes much to the ex-service men, but those who are well should await their turn, allowing the disabled to receive aid first.

He closed his remarks by telling of the republican state administration and how much money had been saved, the state freed from debt, and a sinking fund of over ten millions of dollars provided to meet state bonds as they fall due.

Urges Women to Vote.
The other speaker of the evening was Mrs. Mary Campbell of New York, who asked the women to go out and work hard to get out a vote next Tuesday, feeling that on them rests the responsibility of sending a republican administration the necessary votes in congress to enact further legislation. She advised the women to get into politics, help work for the republican cause, and keep in control of governmental affairs men who represent the brains of the country, for the republican party comprises native-born Americans and foreigners who come here and adopt our institutions as their own, while the democratic party is made up of American people also but largely of people who fail to back our institutions but stand for more radical progress.

The meeting was presided over by Judge Frank H. Row and was largely attended, each speaker being heard with interest and receiving applause as the speech brought out strong points in the campaign.

FITZGERALD SPEAKS TO DEMOCRATIC RALLY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Williamette, Nov. 3.—What will go down as the most enthusiastic democratic rally ever held in the city of Williamette was in the Loomer Opera house on Friday evening, the theatre being well filled. "I am glad that the people are anxious to hear what the candidates have to say in reference to the coming election," said Mayor David E. Fitzgerald of New Haven, candidate for governor. "All that I wish is that the republican candidates would meet us on the platform and discuss with us the arguments which we have to put to them," he continued. "The mayor then went on to enumerate what he called the inefficient administration of the republican party."

Mr. Fitzgerald spoke highly of the soldiers' compensation bill and vividly described his disappointment that it was vetoed by President Harding. In the same manner he told of his feeling regarding the fact that the tariff bill and the shipping bill were signed. The former bill, he said, brought an added tax of about three billions of dollars upon the working man and the shipping bill meant that ships were to be sold for eight cents on the dollar of their original cost to the government, that half of that amount or four cents on the dollar was to be loaned to the purchasers at the small rate of two per cent and besides that they were to be exempt from all taxes for a period of ten years so that these individuals could go out and earn money for themselves while the poor working-man paid highly for the act. In regard to some of the unnecessary expenditures of the republican administration he talked of Charles W. Bennett as road commissioner, but he believed that much could be saved by receiving bids for all contractors on road building and for material for the construction. This saving could be utilized to help World War veterans.

"All that I appeal to is your patriotism," he concluded the speaker. At the end of his spirited talk Mayor Fitzgerald was given a rousing cheer by the audience.

Willard B. Rogers, republican, of Manchester, was then introduced. He said that he was still a republican and had always been one, but that in accordance with his conscience and in behalf of clean politics he could not under any circumstances adhere to his party in voting for the men who are candidates on that ticket for the coming election. He believed that the state of Connecticut is suffering from an acute attack of Rorabackism and Clarkism and that under the leadership of J. Henry Roraback and Charles Clark the remainder of the republican party are simply henchmen. If he could vote for such men as Judge George H. Hinton and Attorney William A. King of this city he would never have left his party but the present candidates not being of that calibre he could not righteously be in their favor.

At a conclusion Mr. Rogers spoke highly of the candidate for the United States senate, Thomas J. Spillacy, and candidates for representative from the Twenty-ninth district, Frank P. Fenton. "And I believe that Mayor David E. Fitzgerald is the business man whom you should elect as your leader and governor of the state of Connecticut," ended Mr. Rogers. He was loudly applauded.

Chairman Frank P. Fenton then introduced the candidate for senator, Charles H. Williams, who is 58 years old and a World War and Spanish war veteran. Mr. Williams arose and made a few brief remarks.
